

Healthcare: Leveraging Best Practices to Achieve Success

Meeting Today's Healthcare Challenges

A lackluster economy and enactment of the farthest-reaching health reform in more than 50 years has considerably increased pressure on U.S. healthcare organizations to reduce costs and improve quality. Amid these dynamics and the climate of uncertainty, healthcare executives and information technology leaders must find ways to increase market share, control costs, and:

- Comply with unfunded mandates, such as HIPAA 5010 and ICD-10
- Implement Electronic Health Records (EHRs) and Ambulatory Electronic Medical Records (AEMRs)
- Comply with Meaningful Use
- Establish new care delivery models including Accountable Care and Patient Centered Medical Home
- Improve the quality and consistency of care
- Implement Health Information Exchanges (HIEs)
- Leverage existing IT investments

What Clients Say About JCS

"I have been involved with a number of other consultants on various projects and the JCS team has been head and shoulders above them all."

Gary Spaugh, Vice President, Strategy and Business Development, Large IDN

"So often consultants come in and ask a series of questions then tell you what you need to do. The unique thing about the JCS team is that they do legwork. When I speak with the team it is clear they are doing value-added work to move the project forward."

Don Hudson, Hospital President

"JCS understood the unique business and technology challenges affecting our ability to address the ever growing demands of eDiscovery and effectuate prompt litigation hold notifications. Thanks to JCS we are in a better position to respond to eDiscovery requests arising from litigation or the threat of litigation."

Austin O'Flynn, Senior Counsel, Large IDN

"The professionals at JCS demonstrated deep knowledge of the challenges associated with planning for and implementing health information exchange (HIE). Their insights into these challenges and prospective solutions was quite helpful. I also valued their professionalism and found their work to be of high quality."

George L. Paul, Lewis and Roca, LLC
